The authors of "My Friend the Chauffeur," "The Lightning Conductor," "The Princess Passes" are an English husband and an American wife. He is the editor of "Black and White" London, and she is a beautiful New Yorker. Many of the remarkable adventures in "My Friend the Chauffeur" really happened to the authors, and they had many other adventures which are not described, among them the remarkable way in which they first met. Their books are full of touches of both English and American life and character, which are accounted for by their respective nationalities.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY
446 EAST 23rd STREET
NEW YORKPLANS TO LOWER TOWER GROVE TRACK

Street Commissioner Prepares Schemes to Abolish Worst Grade Crossing in City for Approval of Railways.

Plans and estimates for the lowering of the grade of the Pacific and Missouri electric railroads at Tower Grove Station are now being prepared by Frank W. Vaillant, street commissioner, and will be submitted to both roads for their consideration.

While probably these plans will not in all respects be the ones which will finally be adopted, Mr. Vaillant believes he says that some tangible proposition should be presented to the railroads.

According to a report in Missouri that a movement is on to have him for Governor, Mr. Vaillant believes that he is "not a candidate for anything."

From now on will be a long time for him to be a candidate for anything.

Private car hearings will be called, proceeding which involves two railroads in the private refrigerator line systems.

Business failures for the week ending October 10, 1905, in the United States and the far West.

The crossings downtown will be disposed of. The crossings downtown will be abolished according to the plan to be submitted.

Delays that appear to be inevitable through the bombing of the subject by the press, and the difficulty of getting to Mr. Vaillant, and his continuing to neglect the problem on his own lines, all the while giving the committee the benefit of his information.
